DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-9, 11-16 and 18-26 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-9 and 11-16, and 18-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being unpatentable over Northington et al (US Patent No. 6,128,602) in view of Atkins (US Patent No. 5,875,437).

As per claims 1-8 and 11-16 and 18-26, Northington et al disclose most of the claimed features. Northington et al disclose an open architecture system for automatically consolidating information from a plurality of financial systems or financial service providers into single accounting systems and for reporting and transferring financial information in response to a user request. See the abstract. The system enables a user to monitor, track and review financial transactions. The system also comprises a plurality of modules, each module having a distinct display interface providing interactive elements for a user to view and manipulate data from individual ones of the plurality data sources. Applicant is directed to figure 1, column 5, line 35 to column 6, line 40.

The system further includes one or more of a calendar module having for enabling viewing and manipulation of time and date sensitive calendar data, a transaction module for enabling viewing and manipulation of financially oriented account data, a portfolio tracking module for enabling viewing and manipulation of investment oriented account data, a network reporting module for displaying a solution oriented network report compiled from the aggregated data, a bill payment module for enabling viewing and initiation of payment action regarding current billing data and an account alert module for reporting time and event sensitive account alerts related to changes in account data. See column 5, line 15 to column 6, line 40.

The system also includes means for providing additional display interfaces launchable from individual ones of the plurality of control report modules the display interfaces containing interactive links to utilities for configuring the aspects of data display and for ordering transactions through the modules and rendering the network interface vehicle accessible to the user operating a remote data access device connected to the network. Applicant is directed to columns 5-8 of Northington et al.

Users access the system via the INTERNET using a personal computer, Web page or browser. Northington et al also disclose a database reporting software for accepting input from the software interface through individual ones of the control and report modules and for performing calculations, and ordering transactions based on the received input. Applicant is directed to column 7, line 45 to column 8, line 18.

The aggregated data are personalized to an accessing user and limited to display in a personalized interface. Note column 14, lines 15-20 and column 15, line 38 to column 16, line 40.

Applicant generally argues that Northington et al fail to teach or suggest a cross-linked module and/or the features of cross-linking of data found in the different claimed modules.

Atkins discloses a system and method for effecting personal financial analysis, planning, and management incorporating a digital system of electronic exchange, investment and borrowing with means of implementing, coordinating, supervising, planning, analyzing and reporting upon an array of asset accounts such as investments and liability accounts such as credit facilities. The apparatus comprises a wide area network of digital computation and communication instruments, including various personal digital assistants that may be linked to central processors and data storing facilities. See column 7, lines 19-29 of Atkins. Atkins further states consolidating and integrating the financial information received from the various sources. See column 9, lines 25-39, column 10, lines 51-55 and claim 17 of Atkins.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the teachings of Atkins into Northington et al in order to provide clients with a detailed analysis of all their financial information at a glance.

As per claim 9, the financial system and method of Northington et al and Atkins are discussed above. Northington et al and Atkins do not explicitly teach an account-bookmarks module having at least one interface for listing URLs of the plurality of data sources. The Examiner notes that the system of Northington et al is an Internet based system containing a web browser and the ability to save and list URLs of the plurality of data sources. Having an account-bookmarks module as claimed would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide in the system of Northington et al and Atkins in order to provide a quick storage of the URLs for fast and easy access of the data sources. Northington et al further teach monitoring travel plans. See column 15, lines 38-65. Initiating of travel plans is interpreted as reencoding the dates intended to travel as such would be done by any party desiring to travel.
